EASYLOGI LOGISTICS PLATFORM

easylogi.com is a brand new application, it has arrived in the logistics industry.

easylogi.com basically works with marketplace logic. Foreign trade companies that need international transportation, warehouse, customs clearance and transportation insurance register in the system. After system registration, the user enters his/her request on the screens in the specified service areas.

The request in question is transmitted to the relevant supplier company which are reliable companies that have already become members of the system both through the system, that is, from the supplier screens, and via e-mail. Relevant suppliers who receive the service request price the service in question and submit price offers through the system. The representative of the user company, that is, the foreign trade company, evaluates the offers given by taking into account the characteristics of the companies and carries out the approval process indicating that he/she accepts one of the offers.

The system notifies the supplier company both on the screen and via e-mail that the user company has approved the offer. After the supplier company pays the platform commission fee, it starts the process of introducing the user to the supplier.

Easylogi registers only reliable suppliers into the system. It has developed certain criteria for this. Such as, standardization documents, authorization documents and registry searches are just a few of them. Suppliers cannot become members of the system and submit offers without the approval of the easylogi admin unit.

Suppliers or users from all over the world can become members of our platform. It carries out regional organization work to provide service in almost every continent, including Europe, the United States, Asia and Africa. Partnership agreements have already been made with reliable suppliers in China, the USA and Eastern Europe.

easylogi.com is not only intended to benefit foreign trade companies; It was also designed to help supplier companies performing logistics operations all over the world find work and develop their business. Thanks to the platform, suppliers can expand or even differentiate their logistics operations in accordance with the demand they receive from users. It can also make performance measurements to offer competitive prices.

It should not be forgotten that; easylogi is not only a transportation platform, but also a suitable digital environment for customs clearance, warehouse/warehousing and insurance procurement.

Today, it can offer many companies engaged in foreign trade the opportunity to keep warehouses or receive customs clearance services almost anywhere in the world. In this context, supplier studies are carried out in many parts of the world, especially in Europe.
